

Privacy Policy

Last Updated: October 07, 2024

1. Introduction

Welcome to Transparent Legal Advisors (“Company,” “we,” “us,” or “our”). We are committed to protecting the privacy and security of our users (“you” or “your”) and the information you provide to us. This Privacy Policy describes how we collect, use, disclose, and safeguard your information when you visit our website [Website URL] (“Site”) and engage our services (collectively, the “Services”). By accessing or using our Site and Services, you agree to the terms of this Privacy Policy. If you do not agree, please do not use our Site or Services.

2. Information We Collect

a. Personal Information

We may collect personal information that you voluntarily provide to us when you:

Schedule a consultation or request professional services.

Fill out forms on our Site (e.g., contact forms, newsletter subscriptions).

Communicate with us via email, phone, or other channels.

Create or update your account profile (if applicable).

Personal information may include:

Name, address, telephone number, and email address.

Financial and billing information when necessary for payment.

Identification documents and information related to trusts, wills, and estate matters you share with us.

b. Non-Personal Information

We may also collect non-personal information about you, such as your IP address, browser type, device type, operating system, the pages you visit, the time you spend on our Site, and other diagnostic data. This information helps us improve our Site and tailor your experience.

c. Cookies and Similar Technologies

We may use cookies, web beacons, and similar tracking technologies to enhance your experience on our Site. Cookies are small data files placed on your device’s hard drive. You can set your browser to refuse cookies or alert you when cookies are being sent; however, some parts of the Site may not function properly if you do so.

3. How We Use Your Information

We may use the information we collect for various purposes, including:

To provide and maintain our Services.

To communicate with you regarding your account, inquiries, or legal matters.

To send you newsletters, updates, and marketing materials that may be of interest to you, where permitted by law.

To improve our Site's functionality, user experience, and content.

To comply with legal obligations and to protect our rights and property.

4. Legal Grounds for Processing (If Applicable)

If you are located in certain jurisdictions, we may be required to provide specific legal bases for processing your personal information. Generally, these include:

Your consent.

The performance of a contract with you.

Compliance with a legal obligation.

Our legitimate interests, provided they do not override your data protection rights.

5. Disclosure of Your Information

We do not sell or lease your personal information to third parties. We may share your information in the following circumstances:

Service Providers: With trusted third-party vendors who assist us in operating our Site, conducting our business, or providing services to you, and who agree to use the information only as directed by us.

Legal Compliance: If required by law, court order, or legal process, or if we believe disclosure is necessary to protect our rights, enforce our Terms of Service, or ensure the safety of our clients or others.

Business Transactions: In connection with a merger, sale, or transfer of assets, we may transfer your personal information to a third party as part of the transaction, subject to appropriate confidentiality arrangements.

6. Data Security

We implement reasonable security measures to protect your personal information from unauthorized access, alteration, disclosure, or destruction. However, no method of transmission over the internet or electronic storage is completely secure, and we cannot guarantee absolute security.

7. Data Retention

We will retain your personal information for as long as necessary to fulfill the purposes outlined in this Privacy Policy or as required by law. Once we no longer need your information, we will securely dispose of it in accordance with our data retention policies.

8. Your Rights and Choices

Depending on your jurisdiction, you may have certain rights regarding your personal information, including:

The right to access, correct, or delete your personal information.

The right to object to or restrict the processing of your personal information.

The right to withdraw consent at any time (where processing is based on consent).

The right to data portability, if applicable.

To exercise these rights, please contact us using the information in Section 12. We may require verification of your identity before responding to certain requests.

9. Third-Party Links

Our Site may contain links to third-party websites or services that are not operated by us. We have no control over their content, privacy policies, or practices, and we are not responsible for them. We encourage you to review the privacy policies of any third-party sites you visit.

10. Children's Privacy

Our Services are not intended for individuals under the age of 18. We do not knowingly collect personal information from minors without parental consent. If you believe we have inadvertently collected such information, please contact us, and we will promptly delete it.

11. International Data Transfers

If you access our Site or use our Services from outside our primary operating country, your information may be transferred to and processed in countries other than your own. We will take steps to ensure that your personal information receives an adequate level of protection.

12. Contact Us

If you have questions, concerns, or requests regarding this Privacy Policy or how we handle your personal information, please contact us at:

Email: contact@transparentadvisers.com

Address: P.O. Box 801151, Acworth, GA 30101

13. Changes to This Privacy Policy

We may update this Privacy Policy from time to time. We will notify you of any significant changes by posting the new policy on this page and updating the “Last Updated” date at the top. Your continued use of our Site and Services after such changes will indicate your acceptance of the revised policy.